
Contents

Preface	XI
Acknowledgments	XIII
Introduction: Key Questions and Enduring Debates JOHN DAY TULLY, MATTHEW MASUR, and BRAD AUSTIN	3
Part One: Reflections on Teaching the Vietnam War
Teaching the Vietnam War: A Life History MARILYN B. YOUNG	21
Teaching the Vietnam War: Recollections and Reflections from More than Thirty Years GEORGE C. HERRING	26
Part Two: Methods and Sources
Putting Students in “Their Shoes”: A Decision-Making Approach to Teaching the Vietnam War KEVIN O’REILLY	41
Understanding the Vietnam Era through Music HUGO A. KEESING	57
“We Must Bear a Good Deal of Responsibility for It”: The White House Tapes and the War in Vietnam MITCHELL B. LERNER	75

CONTENTS

Movies and the Vietnam War SCOTT LADERMAN	96
The Books We Carry: Teaching the Vietnam War through Literature MAUREEN RYAN	111
Teaching the Vietnam War in the Internet Age: Libraries, Websites, and Information Literacy RICHARD HUME WERKING and BRIAN C. ETHERIDGE	127
Hearts, Minds, and Voices: The Vietnam War and Oral History ANDREW DARIEN	150
Part Three: Understanding and Teaching Specific Content
Nationalism, Communism, and the Vietnam War MATTHEW MASUR	169
From the French to the Americans KATHRYN C. STATLER	185
Teaching the Antiwar Movement: Confronting Popular Myths, Teaching Complexity DAVID STEIGERWALD	202
The Vietnamese Sides of the “American” War TUAN HOANG	223
“America’s Most Loyal Allies”: The Hmong and the War CHIA YOUYEE VANG	245
Vietnamese Americans in the Context of the Vietnam War KARÍN AGUILAR-SAN JUAN	259
The Tet Offensive in the Classroom ANDREW WIEST	276

Contents

Teaching the Collective Memory and Lessons of the Vietnam War	292
DAVID FITZGERALD and DAVID RYAN
Teaching the Vietnam War in Secondary Schools and Survey Classrooms	313
STEPHEN ARMSTRONG
Contributors	229
Index	335