Reading African American Autobiography

Twenty-First-Century Contexts and Criticism
Edited by Eric D. Lamore

“These provocative essays reveal the exciting state of African American autobiographical studies. The critical approaches explored here—from new-media studies and eco-criticism to reading the interplay between visual and verbal autobiographical acts—not only frame and interpret the life narratives proliferating within today’s digital and popular cultures, they enliven classic literary texts for a contemporary age.”
—Angela Ards, author of Words of Witness

Understanding and Teaching American Slavery

Edited by Bethany Jay and Cynthia Lynn Lyerly
Foreword by Ira Berlin

“Many instructors find the subject of slavery intimidating. This volume provides them with the necessary background content, as well as effective and interesting sources and methods, for engaging students and steering them away from common misperceptions.”
—Roy E. Finkenbine, author of Sources of the African-American Past
